Koubek Will Be RYLA “Gatekeeper”

Arnold Rotarian Amanda Koubek has a new job, and she's looking forward to it. She has been selected as the Rotary Youth Leadership Awards (RYLA) official registrar for District 5630.

This is the second year that Amanda has been involved with RYLA. Last year she served as a senior counselor and was one of the speakers at the annual, week-long camp at Halsey National Forest. Her speech was on Ethics, and she felt it made an impact on the kids. She'll be a senior counselor again this year, and will most likely speak.

As RYLA registrar, Amanda will be the "paperwork gatekeeper," making sure that background checks are made on adult volunteers and that paperwork for campers is complete.

"Basically, you are the file cabinet system for the event," she said.

Each district sets up their own RYLA camp, but not all districts do. This will be District 5630's 24th year. Arnold Rotarian Ken Wehrman started RYLA for the district and was one of the founding directors. Amanda said Ken is still an active Rotary member, coming to meetings most every week.

"Next summer the district will celebrate the 25th anniversary of RYLA. For me, it's quite an honor to be able to continue the long tradition of Arnold being involved in RYLA and to work with such amazing students from across the district," said Amanda.

About 70 high school juniors and seniors attend RYLA each year at the Halsey 4-H camp. Arnold sends students from both Arnold and Callaway.

"Callaway doesn't have a Rotary club, and since the two schools work so closely together, we might as well open up that opportunity for those students," she said.

Last year Arnold Rotary sponsored Sully Lewis and Brandon Moninger from Arnold, and Karni Doyle and Emma Badgley from Callaway.

This year's camp will be held

July 19-24. Students are there for a full week and learn about leadership, team building, ethics, trust building, some personal finance, and most of all, they learn about the Rotary model of "Service Above Self."

"It's fantastic to watch these kids grow," said Amanda. "Many of them start out the week as unsure of themselves or introverted, and by the end of the week, they are just taking charge and stepping up and letting their voices be heard. It's easy for us to feel down on students because a lot of what we see is students grabbing headlines for sensational actions, but when you get to spend a week in the wilderness with 70 kids who are leaders among their peers, it really re-energizes you and gives you hope."

Arnold Rotary can send as many students as there are spaces for. If students are interested in applying, they can talk to any Rotary member or Kelli Blevins, who with Al Bishop conducts the RYLA interviews. There is no cost for students to attend; expenses are picked up directly by the sponsoring club in the district.

Snow and More Snow

Residents on the north end of town have been watching the snow pile higher and higher for the past several weeks, as the white stuff drifts and blows onto their front doorstep, only to be moved to the side for more to come. The home of Ralph and Karla Nansel (pictured above) is taking it particularly hard, with north views nearly blocked. Karla, who called the Sentinel saying, "If you want to see some snow, come up here," said that it's been years since they've seen snow like this.
